Kia ora,

We refer to your information request below. Hamilton City Council provides the following response.

Your request:

I'm working on an article about the practical implications of the Building (Overseas Building Products, Standards, and Certification Schemes) Amendment Bill for Under Construction magazine: <https://underconstruction.placemakers.co.nz/>

I have a few questions on how the amendment will impact the day-to-day operations of the BCA.

- Do you anticipate these changes impacting the time it takes to carry out inspections where new products are used?*
- Do you anticipate any challenges for BCAs when new products used for high-risk elements such as cladding, joinery or structure?*
- Do you anticipate any changes regarding consent sign-off when unfamiliar / new products are specified?*

Our response:

1. Do you anticipate these changes impacting the time it takes to carry out inspections where new products are used?

- No , we don't believe these changes will impact inspection timeframes as we undertake each inspection based on the approved Building Consent. Inspectors are competency assessed to navigate multiple compliance pathways as part of a performance-based Building Code . The overseas product types and their specifications will be part of the approved Building Consent which inspectors must ensure compliance with .
- Timeframes may however be impacted where onsite changes are proposed requiring amendments or minor variations.

2. Do you anticipate any challenges for BCAs when new products used for high-risk elements such as cladding, joinery or structure?

- Researching the list of overseas product standards and certifications schemes that the Minister for Building and Construction approves that pertain to particular products: additional time could impact on processing times
- Having access to these standards and schemes, the cost to access these unless they are freely available through MBIE.

- Becoming familiar with the proposed elements, seeing if they fit within the scope of an overseas product standard/certification scheme and ensure that all the details supplied meet the criteria of these schemes

3. Do you anticipate any changes regarding consent sign-off when unfamiliar / new products are specified?

- No, not necessarily, as the BCA processing/inspection staff currently take great care when assessing new/unfamiliar products and systems, as alternative solutions now. This is enshrined under the Building Act and currently allows for BCAs to consider products/systems using overseas certification
- The proposed system will make some of these products/systems easier to deal with as they will fit within the acceptable solution/verification method compliance pathways which are a deemed to comply pathway, subject to the question above challenges

You have the right to seek an investigation and review by the Ombudsman of this decision. Information about how to make a complaint is available at www.ombudsman.parliament.nz or freephone 0800 802 602.
